Non-offering of a course:

Millington High School reserves the right to decline to offer a course in its curriculum offerings if there is insufficient student interest or non-availability of a qualified instructor or proper facilities. This shall be an administrative decision and shall be made on a year to year basis. Millington High School will do its best to provide required courses as needed but cannot guarantee the availability of courses when taken out of the recommended course sequence. Courses failed will need to be retaken in the Millington High School summer school session. The responsibility for making up required courses is the sole responsibility of the student and parent.
