

Internet - Level II

Searching the Internet...

If you know exactly what you're looking for, or just have a general idea, you can use search engines to help you search for things on the Internet.

yahoo.com

A good, "middle of the road" search engine.

Type in your keywords here. Then click on the "Search" button.

A + before a word means the results must include that word.

A - before a word means the results must not include that word.

webcrawler.com

Will provide you with more "hits" if yahoo hasn't returned any good results.

Many other search engines...

altavista.com

lycos.com

hotbot.com

Internet Tip for the Day: WebQuest

What is it?

http://www.education-world.com/a_tech/tech011.shtml

An example of one:

<http://www.scrtec.org/wizard/HTML/1141.html>

Internet Level II Quiz

1. How do you know your web browser is working on loading a site?
2. If you accidentally click on the wrong "hot spot", what should you do?
3. How do you bookmark a site...and why would you want to?
4. What will happen if you click on the "Home" button on your browser?